Sabine Schmidtke receives Humboldt Research Prize 2019
Sabine Schmidtke, Professor of Islamic Intellectual History at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, is awarded the Humboldt Research Prize 2019 for her lifetime academic achievements. Sabine Schmidtke will spend the funds granted for her project “Travelling Knowledge: Towards a Historical Bibliography of the Islamic World” amongst others in collaboration with Sebastian Günther, Professor of Arabic and Islamic Studies at the University of Göttingen, who nominated her for the prize.