How is Chile?

Chile is a “long and thin strip of land” located in the southern part of America, bordering with Argentina, Peru, and Bolivia.

It has a length of 4,200 Km approx. and its capital is Santiago de Chile.

Boundaries:

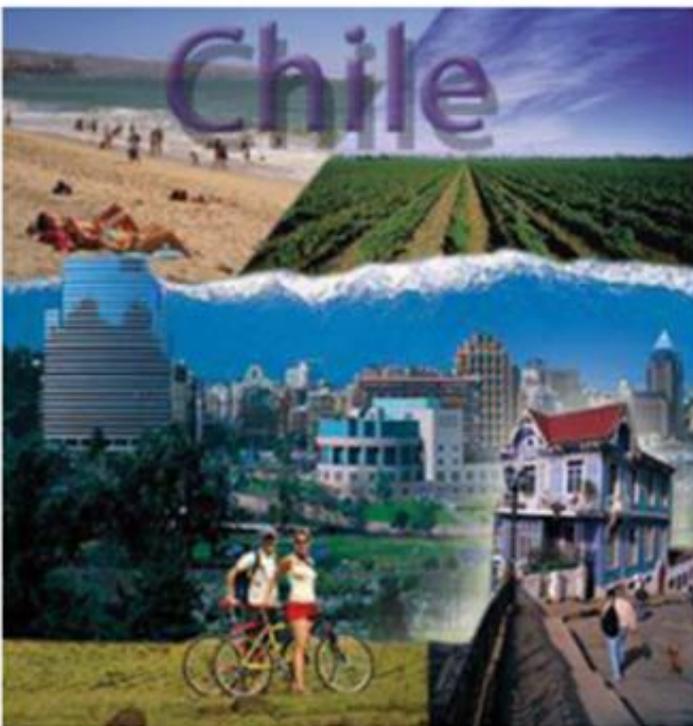

East: Argentina

West: Pacific Ocean

North: VI Región del Libertador General Bernardo O’Higgins

South: VIII Región del Biobio

According to the “Instituto Nacional de Estadísticas” in Chile, Talca, there are around 193,755 inhabitants.

Climate

Because Chilean geography is so diverse, its climate varies from region to region. Talca has a mediterranean climate, having both a dry season in summer and rainy winters.

Minimum temperatures can reach up to 12 °C and maximum temperatures are around 30 °C. During the rainy season you can expect between 340 mm and 1200 mm of rainfall.

Summer: December to February (19 °C – 30 °C)

Winter: June to August (-2 °C – 11 °C)

About Talca

The city of Talca offers a wide variety of tourist services, as being a major hub for culture and education in the region.

Some of the main cultural attractions are: the Museum “O’Higginiano y de Bellas Artes” and the “Villa Cultural Hullqulemu”, both declared historical national monuments.

In the Maule Valley, an attraction that has awakened great interest lately is the “Ruta del Vino Valle del Maule”, which consists of 11 vineyards, surrounded by colonial infrastructure and typical towns.

How to get to University?

- To get from Talca city center to the University of Talca, you can take the public transport ( buses or micros). You can buy tickets directly with the drivers.
- You should take the bus route No. 2 or No. 5 heading north, in order to get to University.
- However, if you are unsure, the bus driver announces in advance if they are heading toward the Universidad de Talca.
- To get to the Agronomy Faculty, you should get off the bus at the first bus stop within the University Campus.

About the University

A bit of history:

University of Talca is a Chilean university located in the cities of Talca, Curicó, and Santiago.

It is a derivative university, one of the most important universities of the southern-central region of Chile, and it is part of the Chilean Traditional Universities.

“U Talca” was founded in 1981, upon the fusion of the seats in Talca, between the Universidad de Chile and the Universidad Técnica del Estado.

There are three campuses, distributed in the cities of Talca, Curicó, and Santiago. The main campus is the Campus Lircay, located in northern Talca.

Practical Information

The monetary currency is the Chilean Peso (CLP or $). Its equivalence to dollars should be consulted nearing your date of travel.

Foreign currency exchange can take place either at banks or at exchange houses. No special documents are needed for this transaction.

Health Insurance:

- It is recommended to hire a health insurance before your travel.
- One option, in case that you already have a health insurance from your home country, is to ask if it is possible to cover you during your time in Chile.
- Other option is to contact some organizations like “Mundo Joven”, and hire an International Health Insurance, which usually lasts one year.
- In Chile is also possible to hire insurance, however, this process takes a lot of time and the requirements needed vary depending on each company.

Bank Account

If you have a credit card, we recommend you to bring it with you. The ATMs usually accept any card, but you will have to pay a fee for this transaction.

For students planning to stay more than 3 months, it would be better to open a local bank account.

The procedure is relatively easy, once you are enrolled at the University. For more information please contact the program assistant in Talca, Chile.

Open Hours

- Banks: Monday to Friday from 9:00 AM to 2:00 PM
- Money exchange: Monday to Friday from 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM. Saturdays from 9:00 AM to 2:00 PM.
- Commerce: Big stores and supermarkets open from Monday to Sunday from 10:00 AM to 10:00 PM.

Electronics

The Voltage in Chile is 220 volts/ 50 Hertz AC. It is recommended to bring a plug adapter as shown in the picture

Others

Cell Phone:

- Contracts have a minimum time of one year.
- The best option is to buy a pre-paid cellphone.

Leisure

Even though Talca is not a very big city, it has theaters and cinemas, big supermarkets, gymnasiums, video-stores, bars, restaurants, etc. It offers many activities that students like to do.

For instance, you can eat affordable traditional dishes by visiting “Viejas Cochinas”, located in the bank of the Claro River.
