

MODERN SOUTH ASIAN HISTORY RESEARCH SEMINAR

Wintersemester 2019/20

Contact: IndianHistory.CeMIS@sowi.uni-goettingen.de

Venue: CeMIS board room (2.112), Waldweg 26

29.10.2019 – 16.00 – 18.00

Razak Khan (Erlanger Zentrum für Islam und Recht in Europa, Erlangen University): Entanglements in the Colony: Jewish-Muslim Dialogue in South Asia

Soheb Ur-Rahman Niazi (Berlin Graduate School Muslim Cultures and Societies, FU Berlin): Social Stratification of Muslims at a Qasbah in Colonial India: The Production and Contestation of Social Hierarchy at Amroha

05.11.2019 – 16.00 – 19.00

Rohan Dominic Mathews (Institut für Soziologie and CeMIS, Göttingen University): Dynamics of Production and Labour: The Case of Building Construction

Priyanka Srivastava (Department of History, University of Massachusetts Amherst): Beyond the Industrial Paradigm: Non-Factory and Service Labour in Bombay City in the Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Century

Aardra Surendran (Centre for Study of Developing Societies, School of Development Studies, TISS Mumbai): Technological Upgradation in the Indian Public Sector: Impacts on Labour Process and Labour Relations

12.11.2019 – 16.00 – 18.00

Josefine Hoffmann (CeMIS, Göttingen University): Reading Representative Rhetoric: Bosch India in the German Archive

Atem Lemtur (CeMIS, Göttingen University): Locating the 'Porter Servant' in the 'Archiv des Deutschen Alpenvereins'

03.12.2019 – 16.00 – 19.00

Maria Framke: National Self-Assertion and Global Civil Society: Humanitarianism in Colonial British India

Svenja von Jan (CeMIS, Göttingen University): Non-elite, Subaltern, Lower Class - How to Productively Categorize Socio-Economic Affiliation in South Asian Migration History

Vishal Singh Deo (Delhi University/CeMIS Göttingen): Playing Rent in the Khadar: The Construction of Colonial Political Economy in the North West Provinces 1813-1860

Wednesday, 11.12.2019 - 18.15 – 19.45

Matthias van Rossum (International Institute of Social History, Amsterdam): Local and global slaveries – the Dutch East India Company empire and coerced labour in South and Southeast Asia, 1600-1800

07.01.2020 – 16.00 – 18.00

Mufsin Puthan Purayil (IIM Calcutta/(CeMIS, Göttingen University): Communitarian Ties as a Strategic Economic Resource: A Study of Job Seeking and Mobility Among Kerala Emigrants

Catharina Hänsel (CeMIS, Göttingen University/Scuola Normale Superiore di Pisa): Trusteeship and Wages - Ahmedabad as a Site of Industrial Wage Policy in the Making

21.01.2020 – 16.00 – 19.00

Maria Pomohaci (CeMIS, Göttingen University): Cleaning up the City: Health, Hygiene and Sanitation Workers in Late Colonial Calcutta

Saeed Ahmad (CeMIS, Göttingen University): Settlement & Placemaking: The Case of Jangpura-Bhogal, Delhi (1920-47)

Debangana Baruah (TISS Mumbai/CeMIS, Göttingen University): Migration Amidst the Citizenship Crisis: An Everyday Struggle of Bengali-Speaking Muslim Migrant Workers from Assam in South Mumbai

04.02.2020 – 16.00 – 19.00

Christian de Vito (Center for Dependency and Slavery Studies, Bonn): Studying the Entanglements Among Punishment, Labour and Dependency

Nabhojeet Sen (Center for Dependency and Slavery Studies, Bonn): Punishment, Labour and Dependency: Western India, c. 1720-1820

Michaela Dimmers (CeMIS, Göttingen University): How Does Labour Work? Prison Labour in Colonial India