

The department of Forest Economics and Sustainable Land-Use Planning at the University of Goettingen is offering a position as

Student Assistant: Language Editing (m/w/d)

We are looking for a student assistant for language editing of scientific papers which are to be published. The working hours are flexible and can accommodate your needs. We are looking to fill this position as soon as possible and prefer a long-term employment. The position offers the opportunity to get in touch with the cutting-edge research in forest economics as well as scientific processes at our department. Your native language should be English and you should be familiar with technical terms in the field of forest economics as well as the classic forest fields or willing to get acquainted with these terms.

The University of Göttingen strives to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are underrepresented and therefore strongly encourages qualified women to apply. It also sees itself as a family-friendly university and promotes the compatibility of science/profession and family. The university has set itself the goal of employing more severely disabled people. Applications from severely disabled people will be given preference if they have the same qualifications.
