

SHORT TERM RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIPS

for academics available at the University of Göttingen

The University of Göttingen provides research scholarships for projects with clearly defined topics and durations. These short term research scholarships are intended for academics (PhD students, Post-Docs and professors or equivalent status). Aim of the short term research scholarships is to provide foreign academics with an opportunity to carry out a research project at the University of Göttingen. The applicants should be current staff members of a university or an equivalent higher education institution. The length of the scholarship is set by the scholarship committee at the selection session. Depending on the project and on the applicant's work schedule, scholarships can be paid generally for a minimum of one and a maximum of three months. Scholarships also include an appropriate flat-rate travel allowance.
