

1 WEEK ON SITE / 12 WEEK VIRTUAL COURSE
RESEARCHING EQUITY

Are you interested in different aspects of life where equality and equity – or the absence thereof – is often at stake? Think for example of cultural and other forms of diversity, of economic inequality or inequality in health. Interested? Then join us in this interdisciplinary course.

The course will provide an analysis of the challenges associated with equity, diversity and inclusion in the regional contexts of five ENLIGHT partners, from various disciplinary angles, including psychology, educational sciences, economics, political science and medicine. Students will learn how to design observational and experimental research dealing with an equity-related subtopic of their own choice.

The introductory week is on site at U Göttingen. The rest of the course will be online. Find more information about application / registration here:
