

After Islamism – Political Imagination in Contemporary Iran

Guest lecture by Dr. Fatemeh Sadeghi

Monday, 24.06.2024, 6-8pm (Berlin), in ZOOM

Dr. Fatemeh Sadeghi (University College London) is a political scientist specialized in political thought and imagination, feminism and gender theories, Islamic law and constitutionalism in the Middle East. Her guest lecture will thematize the current changes in political imagination in Iran, its shift from Islamism and opening towards other conceptualizations of political life. A focus will be made on women and their striving to change patterns of political imagination and social and political relations based on principles of equality and democracy.

Link:

<https://uni-goettingen.zoom-join.com/j/64705250091?pwd=u2895FW7oNvCQaOJ4aIXIjFbdasOTS.1> (Meeting-ID: 647 0525 0091; code: 672044)