

Dr. Jennifer Singletary

Presentations

Invited and Guest Lectures

- 2017 "How (Not To) Be Collegial: Scholarly Rivalry and Collaboration in Neo-Assyrian Sources and the Deuteronomistic History," Faculty Talk Series, Wofford College, Spartanburg, SC, March 6
- 2016 "Objects of Trust: Jeremiah 48:13 in Light of the Ancient Near Eastern Evidence," Department of Religion, Wofford College, Spartanburg, SC, December 7
- 2016 "Ancient Near Eastern Languages, Religions, and Cultures," guest lecture for MENA 354, Wofford College, Spartanburg, SC, November 8
- 2016 "Non-Anthropomorphic Gods in the Hebrew Bible: A Reconsideration in Light of Comparative Evidence from the Ancient Near East," Department of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies, Brandeis University, January 14
- 2014 "Plato, Socrates, and Greek Religion," guest lecture for PHI 180, Converse College, Spartanburg, SC, August 27

Conference Papers

- 2015 "Defining the Problem: Ancient Religions, Ancient Gods, and Modern Scholars," Annual Meeting of the Southeastern Commission for the Study of Religion (Southeastern Regional AAR/SBL/ASOR), Nashville, TN, March 6-8
- 2013 "The Classification of Manufactured Objects as Gods in Ancient Mesopotamia," 223rd Annual Meeting of the American Oriental Society, Portland, OR, March 15-18
- 2011 "Scholarly Rivalry: Competition and Cooperation in Neo-Assyrian Letters and Astrological Reports," 221st Annual Meeting of the American Oriental Society, Chicago, IL, March 11-14
- 2008 "Intertextuality and Allusion: Defining the Terms for Biblical Studies," European Association of Biblical Studies Annual Meeting, Lisbon, Portugal, August 3-7
- 2007 "The Travels of Sargon," 217th Annual Meeting of the American Oriental Society, San Antonio, TX, March 16-19
- 2006 "Heresy in the Dead Sea Scrolls?" Brown University Religious Studies Graduate Student Conference: "'How Intense Is the Zeal': Creating Religious Orthodoxy in the Ancient Mediterranean and Near East," April 9-10